

The Glut1 Deficiency Foundation is a volunteer, non-profit family organization dedicated to increasing awareness of and advocacy for Glut1 Deficiency, educating others, and supporting and funding researchers as they work for better treatments and an ultimate cure.

Twenty years ago, a little boy named Charlie Abrahams developed difficult-to-control epilepsy. As a last resort, his parents turned to a ketogenic diet for help. The diet worked and Charlie became seizure-free. The Charlie Foundation for Ketogenic Therapies was founded in 1994 to provide information about diet therapies for people with epilepsy, other neurological disorders and tumorous cancers.

Matthew's Friends Ketogenic Dietary Therapies is a charity that specialises solely on Ketogenic Therapies in the use of Epilepsy, Glut1 Deficiency, Brain Tumours and other neurological disorders. They also have a clinical branch of the organisation where their highly experienced ketogenic clinical team treat patients using these therapies tailoring each therapy to the individual. They invest in research, training, education and support of families and professionals. More recently they have extended an arm of the charity specifically for the support of patients in the UK with Glut1 and are arranging family gatherings, specific Glut1 information and education sessions for both families and professionals as well as holding Glut1 clinics with Professor Joerg Klepper and Dr. Archana Desurkar.

Ketocook.com is a collaborative site dedicated to providing recipes, kitchen products and ingredient information directly to parents and care givers of children on the ketogenic diet. Information found on ketocook.com is contributed by keto parents who have generously donated their time and efforts to post recipes based upon their own personal experience with the diet. Ketocook.com's mission is to fill the void in the practical, day-to-day application of the ketogenic diet. For some, cooking meals may come easy, for others, time constraints (such as full time jobs) may limit the amount of time they have to devote to cooking experiments. Sometimes, it is just easier to have a source for inspiration. Our goal is to compile as many recipes as possible, so everyone can find inspiration to make the ketogenic diet a success with their child.

Special needs require special attorneys.

The Special Needs Alliance is a national, non-profit organization committed to helping individuals with disabilities, their families and the professionals who serve them. Many of our member attorneys have family members with special needs; all of them work regularly with public benefits, guardianships/conservatorships, planning for disabilities and special education issues. We volunteer significant time to the special needs community and advocate for legislative and regulatory change to improve quality of life for individuals with disabilities.

For over 14 years, Nutricia is proud to offer the most comprehensive line of ketogenic medical foods for patients on the ketogenic diet for epilepsy. KetoCal is a nutritionally complete medical food that can be used as a sole source of nutrition* or as a snack or meal replacement. It can also be used to create delicious and nutritious ketogenic recipes. KetoCal was designed to simplify and optimize the ketogenic diet. The consistent ketogenic ratio and complete nutritional profile offer peace of mind for parents, while the great taste and recipe options offer normalcy for kids.
